It now rests with Angora whether the world shall have peace of war."

"The revised armistice convention," added the general, "is a gratifying manifestation of allied solidarity in war or peace. It is my earnest hope that the Turks will appreciate the liberality of our terms. If they reject them we are prepared for all eventualities."

SEA LIQUOR SALES

TO END AT ONCE

Lasker Directs That All Shipping Board
Vessels Be Warned—Problem
Over Panama.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Chairman Lasker of the United States shipping board yesterday sent identical telegrams to the managing operators of all shipping board vessels, directing that the sale or service of liquor on board these steamers be stopped immediately.

The managing operators to whom Mr. Lasker's instructions were directed to communicate at once by wireless or cable to all shipping board vessels under their respective jurisdictions, ordering them to stop the service of liquor, whether at sea or in port. These instructions went forward in accordance with Attorney General Daugherty's recent decision that the constitutionality of the flag in the matter of the prohibition amendment and because it is possible that some of the managing operators may not have clearly understood the instructions sent from the headquarters of the shipping board on Sunday directing that all steamers flying the flag of the shipping board obey the Daugherty decision and President Harding's executive order issued under that ruling.

Some concern was expressed yesterday by Secretary Weeks of the war department regarding the manner in which the Daugherty ruling will affect Panama. The Volstead law specifically exempts the Panama Canal and vessels passing through that waterway from the provisions of the law, but it so happens that the greater part of all commodities destined to the Republic of Panama are unloaded at the army docks in the Canal Zone, Panama having no large modern docks of its own. On this account there may be some legal obstacle to the continuance of the practice of unloading liquor at army docks in the Canal Zone for use in the Republic of Panama, and it is expected that Secretary Weeks will refer this question to the attorney general for decision.

Opinion was expressed that by this combination of circumstances the people of Panama may have prohibition virtually thrust upon them.

Present Books to County Schools.

A talk by Mrs. John H. Stewart of Middlebury, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, a report by Mrs. Lyman E. Holden of Brattleboro, vice president general of the national society, and vocal and instrumental music made up the program which followed the regular meeting of Brattleboro chapter, D. A. R., at the Episcopal parish house yesterday afternoon. The meeting was largely attended, including guests from Bellows Falls. After the program refreshments were served.

In the business session, which opened at 3 o'clock, the chapter considered several matters of importance, voting to extend an invitation to the Vermont State conference of the D. A. R., to hold its next meeting here in 1923, and to pay $10 for a sustaining membership in the Vermont Children's Aid society. The chapter also voted to present two books of standard fiction to as many schools in Windham county as possible.

Exceptionally pleasing vocal selections were rendered by Miss Ruth Frederickson with piano accompaniment by Miss Jessie L. Hawley, after which Mrs. Holden presented an interesting report of the Connecticut state conference, which she attended recently. Byron Leach rendered two piano selections in an effective manner, and Mrs. Stewart gave a very interesting and instructive talk on D. A. R. work in the state, bringing out many new points.

Delicious refreshments, which were served by the social committee, consisted of fruit salad, rolls, olives, cake and coffee.

GETS EXEMPTIONPower Co. Proposition Is Granted by Town of WilmingtonSPECIAL TOWN
MEETING HELDTax Exemption for Period of 10 Years
from Next April Voted, Ballot Standing 176 to 19—Mr. Harriman and
Mr. Bissell Speakers.

In a special town meeting in Wilmington yesterday it was voted to exempt from taxation for 10 years from April 1, 1923, the pulp and paper mill at Mountain Mills, owned by the New England Power Co., on condition that the owners move the property to a higher location in Wilmington and continue to operate it. The present site will be flooded out when the Whitingham dam is completed, and it was the company's plan to move the plant to Monroe Bridge, Mass., unless the tax exemption was voted.

The vote to exempt was taken by ballot, which stood 176 in favor of the exemption and 19 against the plan. It was apparent all the time that public sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of the exemption, and some surprise was manifested that 19 should vote directly against the town's interests.

The meeting was called to order in the town hall, Moderator Eli H. Porter presiding, but an adjournment was taken to Memorial hall. President Henry I. Harriman of the power company made a statement showing the company's position in the matter, the company having a paper mill at Monroe Bridge where the mill could be operated at an advantage, but it was desired to give Wilmington the benefit of the plant if the town was willing to co-operate. Flint M. Bissell made the principal talk in favor of voting the tax exemption.

SLANDER SUIT STARTS.

Ex-Senator Rich Seeks $30,000 Damage
for Dean Murder Stories.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 10.—A suit for slander brought by Ex-Senator Charles L. Rich of Jaffrey, against a Boston newspaper in connection with the Dean murder in Jaffrey, was started before Judge George F. Morris and a jury in United States district court today.

Senator Rich places the damage sought at $30,000. He claims that the Boston newspaper, the Boston Herald, had been publishing for some time a series of articles in which he had been charged with having been in the room of the model modern home when the murder was committed. In view of the fact that both respondents were without available funds, Attorney Chase asked that a straight imprisonment sentence be imposed, because if the minimum fine of $300 were imposed it would take the respondent three years to work out the fine in prison at the rate of 33 1/3 cents a day. Girard, who has been boarding at Deyo's for the past six or eight weeks, coming here from Cohoes, N. Y., has a wife and three children who are planning to come to Brattleboro where conditions are favorable; and in view of the extenuating circumstances in his case the court imposed the shorter sentence, which was suspended and the respondent placed on probation for one year, with the admonition that if Girard had anything to do with liquor again he would have to serve the sentence in the House of Correction.
